I don't think it is that different as there is a priority return and mandatory calls of its own. Also, it's been in there since the term sheet drafts. What are your thoughts for disclosure?

It's one thing to have deeproot funds buy positions in this deal it's an entirely other thing to have this company buy other deeproot deals. It creates a conflict. It also adds an unpredictability to the FIFO arrangement. A life settlement is sold with an LE, private placements have no LE. If you want to do this we would have to rethink the disclosures and risk factors.

Robert, why do we allow up to 30% in private placements? Doesn't that make the FIFO pool problematic?
